Dr. Larry Stone Attends International Symposium in Boston

(June 2016 – Doylestown, PA) – Dr. Larry Stone, a dentist with a family and cosmetic dentistry practice in Doylestown, attended the 12th International Symposium on Periodontics and Restorative Dentistry from June 16-19, 2016 in Boston, Massachusetts.

Along with addressing contemporary therapeutics and providing insight into the future of dentistry, 85 leading clinicians, educators and researchers from throughout the world presented in the areas of periodontics, oral surgery, restorative dentistry, endodontics and implant dentistry. Optimal solutions for complex esthetic and surgical challenges were presented to attendees who came from all corners of the globe.

The symposium was a joint endeavor between the Quintessence Publishing Group and the American Academy of Periodontology.

“As a practicing clinician providing implants and other restorative services to my patients, it is important to remain current with the latest techniques and solutions in patient care,” remarks Dr. Stone.
