DR. STONE ATTENDS CONFERENCES AT THE SEATTLE INSTITUTE FOR ADVANCED DENTAL EDUCATION

Laurence Stone, D.D.S., M.A.G.D, with a Doylestown-based practice in Cosmetic and General Dentistry, recently attended “Facially Generated Treatment Planning” and “Occlusion In Clinical Practice” at the Seattle Institute for Advanced Dental Education. Both programs were led by Frank Spear, D.D.S., M.S.D., a leader in the field of dental educators.

Dr. Stone’s attendance at these conferences reaffirms his, and his team of health care professionals’, dedication to providing quality care with a commitment to continuing education and personal growth.

“Facially Generated Treatment Planning” taught a systematic, step-by-step approach to complex treatment planning. It integrated esthetics, occlusion, restoration, and periodontics into a logical format that provides confidence in developing the final plan. It also provided a simple and comprehensive method of presenting the treatment plan to the patient, allowing the dentist to address all of the areas of concern, not just those which the patient perceives.

“Occlusion In Clinical Practice” educated participants in a scientifically based approach to the management of occlusion in practice. It covered pertinent literature and necessary clinical information to create an accurate occlusal diagnosis and treatment plan. Special emphasis was placed on restorative cases, bite records, and materials for different degrees of restorative complexity.

Dr. Stone’s love of dentistry, combined with a strong skill set and accreditations by national dental associations, instills confidence in both general and cosmetic dentistry patients alike.
